

ALEXANDRIA SPORTING CLUB.

SECOND SUMMER MEETING.

SECOND DAY'S RACING.

More animation prevailed at Saturday's racing than was the case on Thursday. The enclosure was well filled with Alexandria racers, as well as a number of well-known racing men from Cairo. As on the first day, the weather left nothing to be desired, and, given the excellent playing of the R. Berks band, under Bandmaster Dore, all the elements for spending a pleasant afternoon were present. As to the racing, this was decidedly of a more interesting character than Thursday's. The events were well contested and the handicaps were admirable. Moreover, the races were in the pink of condition, which in itself means a great deal. The first event, the May Selling Race, was won fairly easily by Sir Visto from Firefly, who made a plucky effort to win. The Omium Stakes was a gift to Radium, who won the race. The second event, the Omium Stakes, was won by Radium, who won the race. The third event, the Omium Stakes, was won by Radium, who won the race. The fourth event, the Omium Stakes, was won by Radium, who won the race. The fifth event, the Omium Stakes, was won by Radium, who won the race. BRITISH COTTON-GROWING ASSOCIATION

We regret to hear that, despite all the talk and all the effort of the last few weeks, the new applications for shares of this association are disappointingly small. Since attention was called to the lukewarmness of Lancashire some two months ago, only about £15,000 extra has been subscribed, and this despite the urgency of the numerous appeals made in raising the half-million of capital necessary for the adequate encouragement of British cotton growing. It is a truly regrettable state of affairs.

IN PRAISE OF ENGLAND.

AMERICAN WOMEN'S PREFERENCE FOR OUR COUNTRY.

Lady Henry Somerset relates, in the "New York American," a conversation she had at a club in London for American women, with a prominent American, who said that in all her experience of American women living in England, she had only known one who was really homesick.

"How do you account for this?" Lady Henry asked, "do you think that it is the innate beauty of the English country, or the historic associations which appeal to American women?"

"I replied, going on to say that of course there were several things that were missed on first coming to England, but we soon became accustomed to them, and, indeed, afterwards prefer the English ways.

"Then the climate is so splendid, you can work here all the year round. It is never too hot or too cold. A woman is not forced to leave her husband during the hot weather. Families can remain together, and enjoy the town or the country, as the case may be. The climate is less exciting, and better for the nerves."

"But is not your idea that American women miss the constitution which is lavished upon them in their own country?"

"I think at first they do," she replied, "but by and by they begin to see that they can occupy a place of frank comradeship with men, and that on the whole it is a far greater compliment than the mere admiration, which, nevertheless, leaves them outside the work and interests of men's world. So, therefore, in the long run, I think they prefer the country which gives them a greater equality with man, allows them to share his pursuits, his interests, and his work, instead of placing them on a pedestal to be adored in men's leisure moments. There is more companionship here between the sexes."

GERMANY AND BELGIUM.

The Belgian Government has submitted to the Chamber proposals of the most important nature for the construction of a new railway line connecting the German frontier with Antwerp, with the double end in view of capturing the whole of the traffic from England to Germany, which was previously carried in part through Holland, and of making Antwerp the port for all central Germany. The railway is to be constructed on plans permitting the use of absolute time-tables, and the Belgian Government states that it intends to provide for a speed of two hundred kilometres an hour. In order to realise this great speed, the line is to be laid down without level crossings, curves, bifurcations, or great inclines. It will run by Saint Trond, Tervuren, and Leuven. The line has been planned in conformity with a convention between Germany and Belgium, made in August, 1903, but the realisation of which was deferred, owing to the opposition of Belgian politicians, friendly to France, who thought they saw in it too great an inclination to satisfy the needs of Germany, strategical as well as commercial.

AN ITALIAN UNIVERSITY.

The question of founding an Italian University in Austria has once more been discussed at the Reichstag. The Government have introduced a Bill for establishing a University in the Tyrol, but the scheme was energetically opposed by the Italian deputies, who insist that Trieste must be the seat of the institution. But the Minister of Public Instruction, while admitting the necessity of higher education for the Italians of the Dual Monarchy, declared that Trieste was impossible, because it is not a purely Italian, but is the centre of a large Czech population. He feared that the establishment of a University at Trieste would bring about disturbances similar to those which have occurred at Innsbruck. But the real reason is that Trieste is the centre of Italian aspirations in Austria, and the Government are afraid that they will give an added impulse to Irredentism if they allow a University there. Moreover, the Germans, who brought about the suppression of the Italian professorate at Innsbruck, are bitterly opposed to the scheme, as they object to the spread of any other language but their own in Europe. The question is a very difficult one, for the other nationalities are also claiming Universities, for example, the Slovenian at Laybach, the Ruthenian at Lemberg, and the Czechs at Olmitz. These, however, are matters of home politics, whereas the Italian claim touches the good relationship between the Empire and the kingdom of Italy.

RUSSIAN PRAYERS FOR TOGO!

The latest proclamation of the Social Democratic Revolutionaries, issued at Odessa in the name of the Government, is of a remarkable nature. It warns the people that there is, unhappily, an increasingly greater chance of victory, an eventuality which would give, temporarily at least, a renewed lease of life and oppressive power to the autocracy and bureaucracy. "Free liberty and political freedom," the proclamation proceeds, "must hope and wait for the destruction of the Russian fleet; but if that grievously desiderated consummation fail, then it will behoove the people at once to raise the standard of open and relentless revolution against an intolerable regime. A signal victory for Bolshevism would rescind every temporising Imperialist prospect promulgated during the last six months."

THE QUARANTINE BOARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE. Sir,—I notice in yesterday's "Gazette" a leading article on the Quarantine Board, wherein you display some scepticism as to the possibility of the Powers agreeing to the conditions which the Egyptian Government has laid down as precedent to its acceptance of the conclusions of the Paris Sanitary Conference. The question of the advisability of the virtual abolition of the Quarantine Board is very similar to that of the Capitulations. The general opinion is that, however annoying in some respects the Capitulations are, yet if they are abolished in favor of the authority of the Ministry of Justice, the remedy will be far worse than the disease. Of course, this opinion is only privately stated in Cairo, for even some of us have the privilege of giving vent to our opinions in private, but I find it is generally shared by those who dare discuss the question from an independent and unofficial point of view. In like manner it may well be the opinion of the Board to hand over the functions of the Quarantine Board to the Sanitary Administration. That administration has recently made itself a laughing-stock by the manner it bungled over the Pharmacy Regulations, which had to be withdrawn owing to their extraordinary ineptitude. Not so very long ago, too, it will be remembered how poor a figure the Sanitary Administration cut vis-à-vis the Quarantine Board when Mr. Graham related to show on those occasions the responsibility of the advent of the last cholera epidemic in Egypt. With such instances, and others which I need not mention, are the Powers justified in handing over the important duties of the Quarantine Board to this administration? Would not the remedy in this case also be worse than the disease? I am, etc., ENQUIRER. Cairo, May 26.

PIGION SHOOTING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE EGYPTIAN GAZETTE.

Sir,—In reading your account to-day of the racing held on the A.S.C. grounds, I noticed you made mention of some boarding which had been erected in connection with the "proposed pidgeon shooting contests." Am I to infer therefore that our English Sporting Club is about to take up this obnoxious form of "sport." If so, I for one protest in the name of the poor birds which are to be made a target of by unfeeling "sportsmen."

A notable instance of the growing disfavor with which pidgeon-shooting is now regarded is supplied by the Haringham Club. The club, which came into existence for the purpose of encouraging pidgeon-shooting, now proposes to abolish the amusement from its grounds at Fallow, after the end of the current year!

Though formed as a pigeon-shooting club, the polo element has become so strong of recent years that the devotees of the trap and gun have dwindled to a small and not very influential coterie. There, however, the pidgeon ground remains, its black, unsightly barricade an eyesore in the beautiful pleasure ground of the club. The very fact that the club has discontinued the recreation has proved innoxious to the managing committee. Queen Alexandra, for instance, has never yet consented to visit the grounds. Her Majesty's well-known antipathy to pidgeon-shooting supplies a reason for this tacit disapproval of a club which numbers among its members many of the best-known and most genuine sportsmen in England.

It is to be hoped that the lead thus given may be generally followed, and that the A.S.C. may be induced to reconsider the question, and if unfortunately a decision has already been arrived at to introduce this objectionable practice, that such a retrograde step may be reversed, and, as in the case of the Haringham Club, some less objectionable and more enlightened form of amusement be substituted. I am, etc., HUMANITARIAN. Alexandria, May 26.

BRITISH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.—We would call the attention of persons interested in Egyptian trade to the work of the British Chamber of Commerce of Egypt, whose office in Alexandria gives information as to standings trade, &c., to its members, and whose monthly publication reviews our commerce. The annual subscription is £1 and all British traders should become members. Our London office, 36, New Broad-street E.C.4, acts as London agency to the Chamber.
