NATIONALIST AGITATION.

DEBATING SOCIETIES IN CAIRO.

A significant and somewhat distorbing portent is the number of debating societies, which have arise in Cairo, where most violent speeches are habitally indulged in against the British Occapition of Egypt. The members of these societies are principally recruited from the Egyptian Covernment schools, such as the Rederival Law School and similar institutions. Khedivial Law School and similar institutions. The pupils of these schools are encouraged to speak and as the Arab is generally a fleat orator, these sort of meetings are much critically and the sort of the strings are much stronger, the wirelence of the publics induging a stronger, the wirelence of the publics induging the stronger, the wirelence of the publics induging Some years ago a debating society was founded at the Khedivial School of Law for the purpose of tisensating most points of prispuradness. as the Khedivial School of Law for the purpose of lineasing most opinis of jarispradenes. The founder was Mr. now Judge Shedon Ames, and we remember at the time noting the fact that the late M. Testond, the regrested principal of the School, was opposed to the project on the grounds that it might lead to selitions purposes. His advice, however, was not hearkened to, with the deplorable results which we are now witnessing.

PORT SAID AND COMMERCE.

PORT SAID AND COMMERCE.

(FROM A FORT SAID CORRESPONDENT)

From time to time one brase of efforts to develop Fort Said as a commercial centre for Egyptian trade and more sepecially for the export of Egyptie chief produce, cotton. So far, however, there has been little evidence in this respect to justify the idea that Fort Said will ever become a formidable rival to Alexandria, the great centre of the commercial life of Egypt. Although the wast ertensions at present being carried out will still forther improve what is already a very fine harbour, the immediate intention is merely to further facilitate the transit traffi. In the course of a year little short of four thousand atcamers pass through the transit traffi. In the course of a year little short of four thousand atcamers pass through the Suce Canal going and coming from the Far East. In addit on another five hundred steamers make Fort Said a port of call either carrying passengers, general cargo, or cost. Excellent hotel socommodation has been made for those who elect to stay over night in the town.

Although the place itself offers fittle attraction to viators, there are few passengers who do not avail themselves of the opportunity of a run sabore. Quite a large business is done with these, more especially in ingarettes, Raxten curios, newspapers, periodical, and the thiguitous pictorial potactard. Owing to the great improvement and acceleration of the railways savine it is now possible for viators and entires to reach Cairo within five hours and the produced of the same and the control of the railway active to the order of the America of the Massado Caul will here are a substant to combinations who all have arisens to reach all high great the trade with the interior, although it is unlikely that much of any of the produced form Alexandria. A glorious record is that of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers or, as they were known in old Indian times, the 10% of Royal Madras Fasiliers, and the First Madras Fasiliers, and the Madras Brongen Regiment. They have seen service wherever it was to be had, and did splendidly in the South African War, but the military event with which their name will ever be associated was the part they took in the relief of Lucknow, on Suptember 25, 1857, of which yesterday was the anniversary.
